

Module 1 You as a Future Leader

Great leadership starts from looking at yourself and particularly understanding how your actions can influence and affect the performance of others around you.

During the first module we asked the delegates to look inwardly at themselves. To become more self-aware, identify how they prefer to communicate and interact with others and the positive and negative implications this can have on relationships and performance.

Interested in great leadership? Check out the following modules on available on Dev Zone:

- Communication Skills

<http://mydevelopment.zone/>

